PROGRAM: MA INTERNATIONAL LAW AND THE SETTLEMENT OF DISPUTES

Program Focus
Recommended Major:
Law

Duration:
1 year

Level of study:
Master

Description:

The Masters Programme in International Law and the Settlement of Disputes provides students with a rigorous understanding of the role of international law in the settlement of disputes having an international, regional, or a national character.

This unique and cutting-edge programme has been carefully designed to provide both lawyers, and those already working or aspiring to work in the broad transdisciplinary field of conflict resolution or in global policy making, to gain the knowledge and skills necessary for resolving contemporary disputes within the contours of international law.

Thus, the programme aims to ensure that all its graduates are equipped with tools for conflict resolution through the use of the language and techniques of international law, including in the regional and international courts and tribunals, in diplomacy, and in alternate dispute resolution methods such as negotiation, mediation, and truth and reconciliation.
